SPECIFICATION - USER ACCOUNT

In your organization, the SMTP server and the IMAP server should have all user accounts. For SMTP team and IMAP team, you need to ask ALL users in your organization for their usernames and create the accounts in both the mail server and the IMAP server in the SAME order. For example, if you have created the accounts in the SMTP server with this order: "behappy", "befunny", and "becrazy", you need to create the same set of accounts in the IMAP server with the same order.

HOW TO CREATE A USER ACCOUNT

As root, run redhat-config-users (see Figure. 1)

```
redhat-config-users
```

Press New User button.

Fill in the blanks accordingly (see Figure. 2). The following is an example only. You should collect usernames from all members of your organization.

e.g.

FIELDS	VALUES	REMARKS
User Name	marychan	No more than 8 characters. Only alphabets and digits.
Full Name	Mary Chan	-
Password	dye7uf9w	No more than 8 characters.
Confirmed Password	dye7uf9w	Must be same as "Password". No more than 8 characters.

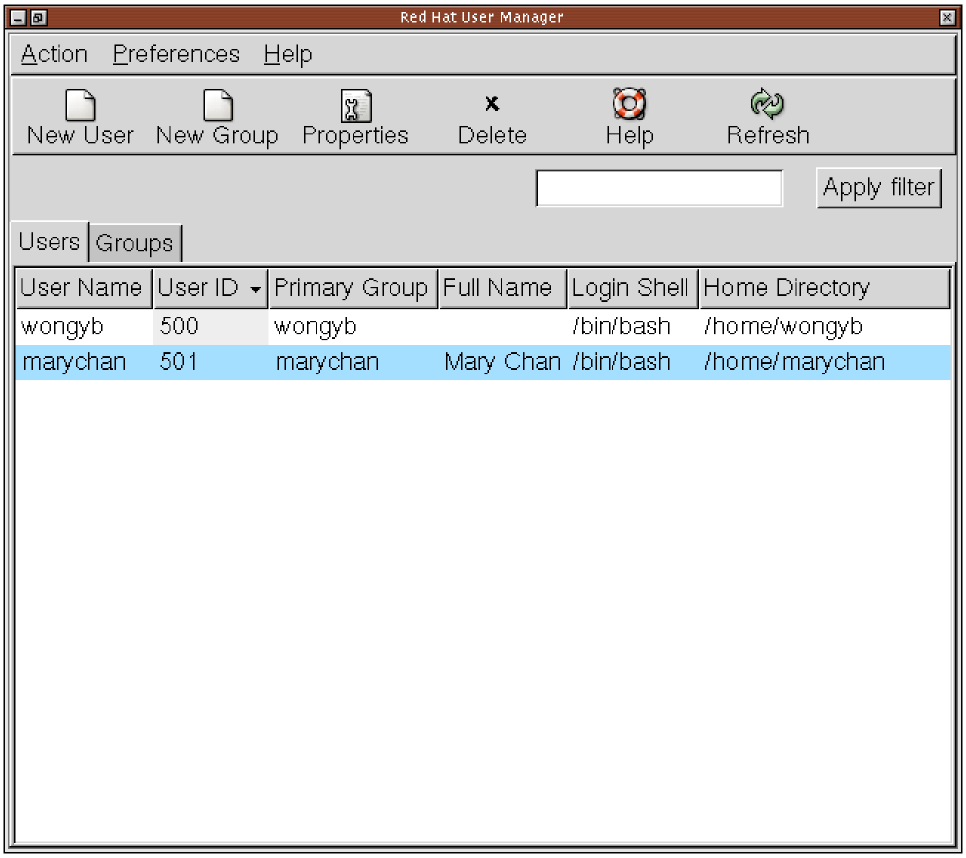

Figure 1: RedHat user manager

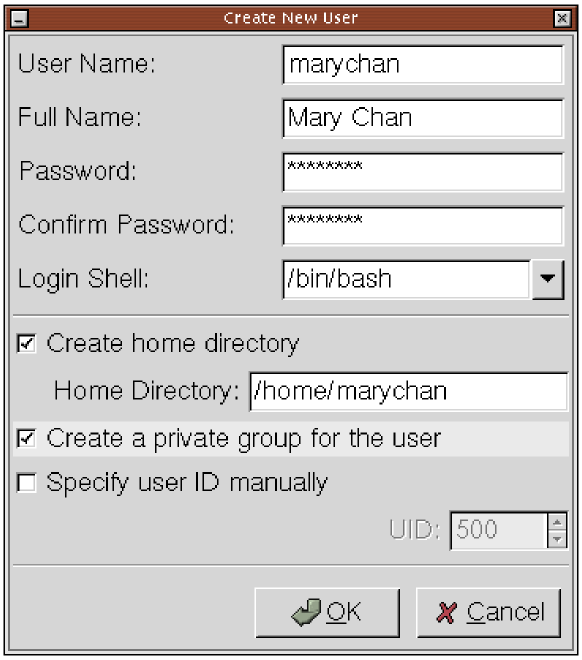

Figure 2: Create new user accounts