

15.10.

A serial schedule is a schedule where, for each participating transaction, all of its statements are executed continuously, without being interleaved with statements of any other transaction.

A serializable schedule is a schedule that has the same effect on the database as a serial schedule.